- ITS America Annual Meeting and Exposition, May 3-5, 2010 - As funding for additional roads becomes scarcer, additional attention needs to be given to how to operate our existing road system more efficiently. This conference will showcase various technological and operational approaches being used and developed throughout the country for addressing transportation issues such as congestion, safety and security. As the host of this year's conference, the ITS America Annual Meeting and Exposition will provide an opportunity to showcase Houston area efforts to address its transportation issues through technological and operational approaches to the rest of the country.
