January Board of Directors Meeting

At its first meeting of the new year, on Tuesday, Jan. 17, the Houston-Galveston Area Council (H-GAC) Board of Directors approved an amendment to the Community Development Block Grant Disaster Recovery Local Infrastructure Program Method of Distribution.

The amendment will reallocate a little more than $2.3 million in declined or de-obligated funds from the initial grant to eligible entities in the region to help fund local projects addressing infrastructure damage from Hurricane Harvey. H-GAC has also developed an intended methodology to reallocate the funds, which was included in the approved amendment. More information about the amendment and the public participation period are available on H-GAC's 2018 Hurricane Harvey Disaster Recovery Funds Reallocation page.

Additionally, the board recognized January as Parks and Natural Areas Month in support of H-GAC's annual Parks and Natural Areas Awards program. This program spotlights those parks and natural areas projects in the 13-county region that serve as models for how these spaces can improve quality of life and provide recreational opportunities to people of all ages and abilities. The awards ceremony for the 2022 recipients will take place on Friday, Feb. 10 at the H-GAC second floor conference rooms. Click here to register to attend.

Later, board members recognized the service of outgoing members Sealy Mayor Carolyn Bilski and Conroe Mayor Jody Czajkoski. They also received updates on recent activities at the Texas legislative session from Intergovernmental Relations Director Rick Guerrero and operational activities at H-GAC by COO Onyinye Akujuo.

Finally, the board approved one new appointment to the Natural Resources Advisory Committee.

Next Board Meeting: Tuesday, Feb. 21

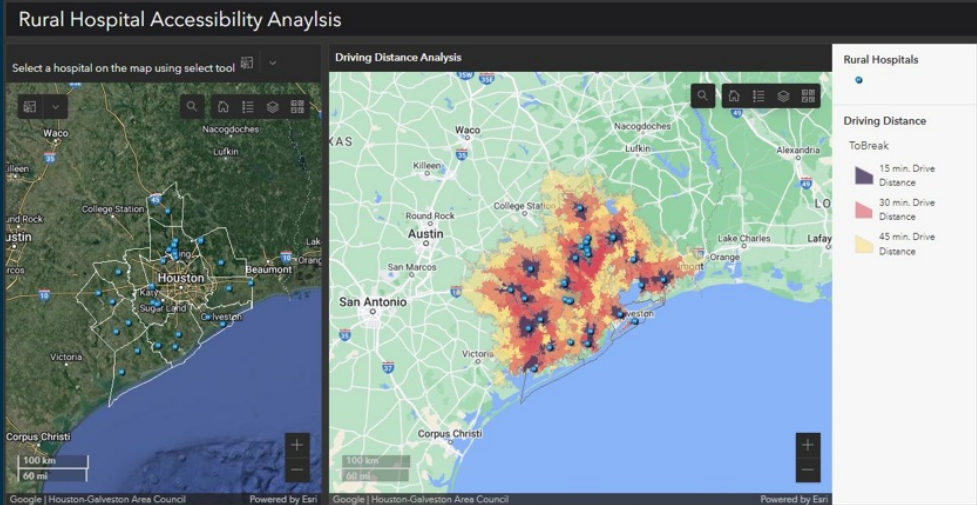

The next board meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m., Tuesday, Feb. 21. If there are any scheduling or location updates to this meeting, we will notify the public immediately. H-GAC Program Spotlight: Data Analytics and Research's Healthcare Analysis of the 13-County Region

At its January meeting, the H-GAC Board of Directors listened to a spotlight presentation by H-GAC's newest department, Data Analytics and Research. One of H-GAC's major objectives starting this year is to increase access to quality healthcare across the 13-county region. The initiative will explore several healthcare aspects like bed capacity in outlying areas, raising awareness of mental healthcare needs and solutions, and telemedicine opportunities.

Jochen Floesser, director of data analytics and research, presented an analysis conducted by his team about the current state of healthcare in the region. The main takeaways were:

- The 13-county region's population is growing exponentially. By 2040, it will have reached more than 10 million people. Of that 10 million, 27% will be aged 55 and older.
- Currently, a third of the region's elderly population has a disability. This number is likely to increase as the region's overall population grows and ages.
- Even though the region is experiencing employment growth in healthcare (particularly in nursing, nurse practitioner, and outpatient care), we currently have about a 20% gap in employment coverage to the population compared with the national average. The current rate of employment growth is not enough to close that gap. If this trend continues, the region will suffer critical medical staffing shortages to serve the population, especially in specialty care.
- Central hospital systems are experiencing far less staffing growth than outpatient care facilities.
- As rural hospitals and medical facilities close, many rural-area residents in the region are facing increasing barriers in access to medical care, especially vulnerable and historically underserved populations. Driving times for rural residents to their nearest hospital or healthcare facility are increasing.

Due to these projections, H-GAC is discussing reviving the board's Healthcare Committee and subsequent working groups. These groups would take the lead on fostering regional collaboration, resources, development, and solutions to healthcare needs and issues. More information about this initiative will be shared in the coming weeks. Those seeking more information or who wish to stay up to date on H-GAC's progress may contact Rick Guerrero, H-GAC's director of intergovernmental relations.

H-GAC Announces New Board Officers, Discusses State of the Region at 2023 Annual Meeting

The state of the Houston-Galveston region is dynamic and full of possibilities. That was the key takeaway from the H-GAC annual meeting held on Jan. 20 at The Briar Club. Chuck Wemple, H-GAC executive director, discussed the unique opportunities and challenges the region's rapid growth presents to local governments and the residents they serve and how it will take a strategic, collaborative approach by local leaders, agencies, employers, community organizations, and other key stakeholders to meet these challenges and opportunities to ensure prosperity and quality of life for all communities.

Wemple also announced five key initiatives that H-GAC will focus on over the next three to five years in addition to its existing programs and initiatives: 1) water resources, 2) physical and mental health, 3) broadband access, 4) housing, and 5) providing exceptional customer service to local governments and communities across the region.

The newest officers for the 2023 H-GAC Board of Directors were announced and sworn in. Judge Trey Duhon of Waller County will serve as the new board chair, Houston City Councilmember Sallie Alcorn will serve as chair elect, and Judge Jay Knight of Liberty County will serve as vice chair. Wemple also honored outgoing board chair Sally Branson, Friendswood city councilmember.

Wemple presented outgoing board member and Matagorda County Judge Nate McDonald with the Tom Reid Award. The award recognizes excellence in regional leadership and honors individuals that served the H-GAC Board of Directors and its 13-county region by demonstrating superlative leadership to the Houston-Galveston area.

Commute Solutions Partners with the University of Houston-Downtown's Student Basic Needs Initiative

Commute Solutions recently attended the University of Houston-Downtown's Weeks of Welcome. As students return to campus for the spring semester, Francis Rodriguez, senior program coordinator, was on site to talk to students about their commute to campus.

On top of tuition, commuting is a major concern for students. With no on-campus housing available, we have had many conversations with students to explore the challenges they face when deciding how to get to campus. For some, a rideshare service is the only option, which can be costly.

Through our collaboration, Commute Solutions will help students find alternative commuting options that will save them time, money, and reduce stress. With most students driving alone during rush hour, encouraging mode shift may help to reduce traffic and improve our region's air quality. Commute Solutions is proud to partner with UH Downtown and its Student Basic Needs Initiative, providing transportation information and resources to help make their college experience a success.

For more information about how you can partner with Commute Solutions visit the Commute Solutions website.
