Hurricane Season Runs June 1 - November 30

New Disaster Debris Resources Now Available:

In response to recent severe weather and the start of hurricane season, the Houston-Galveston Area Council has put together the following resources to help communities and residents throughout the 13-county region be prepared and resilient before, during, and following a disaster.

Disaster Recovery Resources & Funding
h-gac.com/funding

- Local, state, and federal resources including:
- Recovery resources for farmers and ranchers
 - Disaster assistance from the Small Business Administration
 - State of Texas Department of Emergency Management
 - Disaster relief housing resources for individuals and families
 - FEMA grants and resources

Disaster/Hurricane Season Preparedness
h-gac.com/hurricane-evacuation-planning

In addition to local, state, and federal resources, H-GAC has the following publications and maps available to help guide our communities and residents every step of the way, including:

- The most current Evacuation Zone and Evacuation Route maps available in English and Spanish
- H-GAC’s Hurricane Preparedness Guide
- More resources to come, including a tailored Hurricane Preparedness Guide for older adults and special populations

Public Information Templates for Local Governments and Emergency Partners

h-gac.com/solid-waste-management/disaster-debris-cleanup-and-management/resources

In collaboration with TetraTech, H-GAC has developed customizable public information messages and templates for local governments and emergency partners. Resources include:

- Information to communities, residents, and other stakeholders before, during, and after a debris-generating event, such as floods, wildfires, or hurricanes
- Tools include graphics and messages that can be used on social media posts, websites, and flyers; and public information/news release templates
- Tips for setting up a call center
- Available in English, Chinese, Spanish, and Vietnamese for download

Livable Centers Roundtable

H-GAC invites you to attend the second event in a three-part 2024 Livable Centers Roundtable and Workshop Series — Exploring Community Conscious Planning Practices.

The next event will be an in-person roundtable from 1 to 2:30 p. m., Thursday, June 20, at H-GAC, second-floor conference rooms.

During a moderated discussion expert panelists will share the principles of human-centered design and its application to transportation infrastructure and services. During a roundtable discussion, participants will share the challenges and opportunities associated with integrating these metrics into their own program, policy, and planning initiatives.

Expert panelists include recent Livable Centers partners/consultants:

- Armandina Chapa, Huitt-Zollars
- Louis Cutia, Half Associates
- Ranjan Roy, Asakura Robinson

The first event was a roundtable on April 18 and the third event will be the Annual Livable Centers Land Use and Transportation Workshop on September 19.
